

BREAD TRUST YIELDS.

The "Evening World" Battle for Cheaper Prices Bearing Fruit.

Wholesale Bakers' Association Gives Evidence of a Disintegration.

Full Weight Loaves Must Be Furnished at a Minimum Price.

Cheap flour and "The Evening World" indisputable arguments in favor of a reduction in the price of the eighteen-ounce loaf has proved too much for the Bread Trust. Disruption in the ranks of the Wholesale Bakers' Association in the result. It is now only a matter of coming to a decision as to the time when the reduction shall go into effect.

A majority of members of the Trust have decided that it is useless longer to keep up the fight against the inevitable.

The meeting of the Association Tuesday afternoon demonstrated to every member of the Trust that the feeling in favor of a cut was general, and that the two or three bakers who held out to keep up the price had few and weak arguments to support their position.

The disclosure that two of the most prominent members of the combine had agreed to furnish full-weight loaves at a price far below that asked by "The Evening World," taken in conjunction with the array of evidence published by this paper, practically disposes of the question of cheaper bread.

It was learned today that for the past week several hundred grocers who have been drawing their entire supply of bread from the Trust combine, have been cutting down their orders to such an extent that a few weeks more of stubbornness on the part of bakers would mean bankruptcy to most of them.

The people absolutely refuse to buy Trust bread at five cents a loaf, and bakers are in the combine are furnishing as good an article and as much of it for four cents a loaf.

Hundreds of housewives have taken the advice of "The Evening World" and are baking their own bread. With flour so cheap, many people have learned that a loaf of bread can be made for less than five cents.

However, as soon as the price of the eighteen-ounce loaf is reduced to five cents, the bakers will again procure their supply from the combine. The bakers of the Trust for the last two weeks said today that they contemplated putting the price down to a fraction below the three-cent loaf if the price of the material showed no inclination to rise above the $2.50 figure, at which the very best patent flour is now quoted.

Ex-Fire Commissioner Blair Sued.

John J. Blair, who was a Fire Commissioner under the Tweed regime, surrendered himself to the Sheriff's office yesterday, upon learning that Judge Rockefeller had issued an order for his arrest in a suit William Gleason, of 223 Avenue A, had been against him to recover $1,500 for a stander. Blair was released in $1,500 bail.

Pool-rooms Still Open.

Pool-rooms are still running in various parts of town. The results of the races are recorded in quiet rooms, occupied by an operator and messenger. The bets are made near by, but none of the ordinary apparatus is used, and the place has an innocent appearance if a raid is made.

JAIL FOR ALD. PARKS.

Sentenced to Serve Five Months in Monmouth County.

Must Also Pay a Fine of Five Hundred Dollars.

Convicted of Keeping a Gambling House at Asbury Park.

FREEHOLD, N. J., November 22.-Alderman Parks, of New York, was sentenced to five months in the Monmouth County Jail and a fine of $500 and costs this morning.

The sentence was imposed in the County Court in Freehold, N. J., by Judge Conover this morning.

He was convicted of keeping a gambling-house at Asbury Park last summer, after being forced to close his gambling resort in New York City through the intervention of the police.

Top of the Mountain Disappears and a New Peak Forms.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 22.-Several slight shocks of earthquake were felt here early last evening. Windows were rattled throughout the city. The first shock was most severe, being accompanied by rumbling noises, and simultaneously a sheet of flame was observed in the eastern heavens. Several persons say smoke issuing from Mount Tacoma's yesterday morning.

Prof. P. C. Plummer, a local scientist, who has made a special study of earthquake phenomena in the Northwest, states that old Hlaton, the oldest Indian in Puyallup reservation, said, through an interpreter, before the Tacoma Academy of Sciences, on Feb. 6, 1893, that he had many times seen fire and smoke coming out of Mount Tacoma.

Gen. John C. Fremont reported on Nov. 15, 1841, that Mount Tacoma was in eruption.

According to Prof. Holden, of the Link Observatory, a violent eruption of the mountain occurred Nov. 12, 1892. In May, 1893, volumes of smoke were observed rising from the crater. On June 17, 1894, a series of steam were observed shooting upward from the mountain.

"It is interesting," said Prof. Plummer, "that several of the planets, including the earth, are at present in line, a fact which bears out the theory of Prof. Alexis Perry and others, that such conditions are favorable to earthquakes and volcanic phenomena. There have been so far twenty-two large earthquakes throughout the world during October and November of the present year."

Mount Tacoma (from the Indians' name meaning "Snowy Mountain"), is 14,441 feet high and overtops the rest of the Cascade Range. It rises abruptly from the low forest lands, of which fifty-five miles are between its base and Puget Sound. The peak is a symmetrical pyramid as viewed from Seattle, a double peak from Tacoma, and from Olympia, or Vashon Island.

Eight days is the least time in which an experienced climber can make the round trip from either Seattle or Tacoma to the summit of Mount Rainier and return.

The first attempt to climb the mountain was made by Dr. William Frazer, of the University of Washington, in 1892. He reached Tolt Peak, by way of Crater Lake, on the Northwest slope. Lieut. A. V. Kantz reached the South Peak in 1892. F. B. Van Trump and Hazard Stevens reached the Dome of Crater Peak in August, 1890, and at the close of 1892 thirty-eight climbers were known to have reached the summit.

One woman, Miss Fay Fuller, reached the Dome in August, 1899.

The mountain was burned for Rear-Admiral Rainier, one of the British Lords of the Admiralty, it having been discovered by the summit of Mount Rainier, that it was smoking in 1842 and referred to it as Regnier, believing it had been named after Lieut. Regnier, of Marchand's expedition.

Doctors McCoy and Snow Extend This Offer to the Public for the Next Two Weeks-Everybody, Rich and Poor Alike, Is Welcome to Take Advantage of It, Without Incurring Any Obligation to Continue Treatment After the Free Week.

Not one penny required for consultation, advice or even the medicine prescribed, which will be equal in quality to that compounded by the best druggists.

WHAT IS THIS DONE FOR?

A merchant doesn't hesitate to submit a sample of his goods to a customer, neither should a doctor of ability fear to offer a sample of his work if he is a skillful physician. Realizing this, Doctors McCoy and Snow offer their services free to all who apply during this limited period, in order to give the public an opportunity to decide for itself, without cost, whether their claims to skill are correct.

IT IS THE FIRST WEEK FREE.

This offer is genuine and does not cover any deception of a catchpenny nature. It is not the last week free, nor the middle week free, but the First Week's Treatment with medicine furnished free. If you are cured in one week, well and good. You have nothing to pay. You are welcome to come just the same. If after the free week is up you want to stop treatment you are equally welcome to come. If you desire to continue the treatment after the free week has expired you can do so.
